Any missing wages that you identified when you filed your new claim have been requested from the employer(s), and a monetary REDETERMINATION will be mailed to you when the wage information is obtained. Continue to file claims for any week during which you are either totally or partially unemployed, while awaiting your redetermination notice, or if you file a monetary appeal. You are entitled to the unemployment benefits shown, provided you are otherwise eligible. A separate determination will be issued, if there is a question about your eligibility.

Please note that the weekly benefit amount shown is subject to change based on any other wage data we receive after this determination. If you have any questions concerning this or any unemployment claim matter, please call the toll-free Claimant Assistant Line at 1-877-214-3332.

*if eligible, you will be paid based on this weekly benefit amount until this Benefit Year Ending Date or until you have exhausted your Maximum Benefit Amount.

If you did not file a claim for unemployment insurance benefits in Vermont and you believe this claim has been submitted fraudulently, please file a report with the Vermont Department of Labor immediately at <https://labor.vermont.gov/form/report-ui-fraud> or by calling 802-828-4104.
